Answer the following questions:

1. Write a comparative note on the patent and copyright protection and also answer the following question. Assume that a friend of yours develops a new way of calculating targets in a cricket match truncated due to rain disruptions. He publishes a detailed note on the method in his famous sports blog. The method receives highly favourable response from various national and international cricketers. Somebody tells your friend that by publishing the details of his method in his blog, he may have missed out on the possibility of getting a patent on the method subsequently. Has such publication impacted the patentability of the method? In any case, your friend also wants to know how far and what kind of protection would be available to him under copyright law? Explain your answer in detail.
2. What is the difference between the absolute and the relative grounds for refusal of registration of trademarks? (10 Marks)

Are the following registrable as trademarks? Give reasons.

- a. Shape of a pen designed in the form of a peacock feather. (5 Marks)
 - b. Mark “Ganges” for mineral water. (5 Marks)
 - c. Mark “NAMASTE” for Utensils when the Namaste symbol is already registered for Gas Lighters. (5 Marks)
3. Write a detailed analytical comment comparing the US Patent Regime with the European Patent Regime while also highlighting the important changes these regimes have seen over the years.

4. Compare the different theoretical approaches to intellectual property rights regime. In your opinion, apart from academic importance, do the theories have any other importance in Intellectual Property Law? Which theoretical position you prefer the most and why?
